

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFATORY NOTE

This list, as its title states, is a preliminary check list. Or rather a contribution toward a check list, and is put into type for the purposes: (1) Of inviting additional titles, and (2) of enabling the Library of Congress to perfect its own files.

These purposes not requiring full bibliographic description, none has been attempted, even in the case of almanacs in the Library, of which such a description is therefore at hand.

Such of the titles as are represented by copies in the Library are indicated by the letters L. C. after the titles. The whereabouts of copies of others listed is also indicated where known to the compiler. Of those of which copies exist in the Library of Congress the collation given in leaves has been verified by the compiler. In the case of others it is quoted from the authorities from which the title itself is quoted. It is upon such authorities that the list depends for all titles not represented in the Library of Congress.

The arrangement is topographical by states and localities, with a chronological arrangement under the states and alphabetical under each year.

Suggestions are requested which will enable the list to be perfected as a check list, and to be corrected in any errors as to facts stated.

Institutions having almanacs among their duplicates will confer a favor by notifying the Library of Congress of any not noted as already in its collection.

Mr. Daboll's name appeared first on the Almanac of 1773 and was continued on those of 1774 and 1775. It was then dropped for that of "Edmund Freebeter," whose almanacs had gained a degree of popularity hardly inferior to those published with the name of Ames. In 1786 the New-England Almanack, &c., by Nathan Daboll, was published, and in announcing it, October 18, 1792, Green states that "to Mr. Daboll, the public have for many years been indebted for the correct calculations of Freebeter's Almanack."—Trumbull.

The second title page is the same as the New Haven copy, 1759, with the exception of the imprint.

"The appearance of this triumvirate of printers on the almanack this year was, according to the History of Printing in America, occasioned by a dispute between the printers and booksellers in substance as follows: 'John Draper and his predecessor, Bartholomew Green, had always purchased the copy of that almanac and printed it on their own account; but they had supplied the booksellers, in sheets, by the hundred, the thousand, or any quantity wanted. About the year 1759, this almanac was enlarged from 16 pages on a foolscap sheet to 8 half sheets. Draper formed a connection with Green & Russell and T. & J. Fleet in its publication. A half sheet was printed at each of their printing houses; and they were not disposed to supply booksellers as formerly.'"—Briggs.

An Astronomical diary, or, an almanack for 1760.

By Nathaniel Ames. 11d. edition. Corrected from the mistakes and blunders of those printed by some of the printers of Boston. N. B. As some of the printers of the town of Boston seem determin'd to impose on the publick—This is to inform, That to the great abuse of Dr. Ames, and the publick, they have printed almanacks for 1760, & affix'd the Doctor's name to the same, that differ in a scandalous manner, and can by no means be depended on; and that great care has been taken to correct this edition from the errors they have made in said almanacks:—We also desire the publick to beware they are not impos'd on by giving an extravagant price for said almanacks.

Boston: Printed for and sold by the booksellers.

L. C.

There being no copyright law in the Colonies, the booksellers engaged a printer named Kneeland, stole the copy after publication by Dr. Ames' printers, and issued on their own account.

Not content with absolute robbery, these pirates boldly announced their production as the 11d. edition, etc. (See above.)

This the Doctor replied to as followeth (from the Boston Gazette, June 14, 1760):

"In a Connecticut paper was advertised almanacks for 1760, with my name thereto, to be sold by some of the booksellers in Boston; and also some to be sold at New Haven, at the low price of two shillings per dozen: and having seen some of them in Boston; it appears that said almanack is a notorious cheat and imposition: the chief design was, (as given out by some who had honor, honesty and ingenuity enough to assist in counterfeiting) to destroy the credit my almanack had gained, and prevent its having such credit for the future: To which purpose they have endeavoured to render my performance as despicable as possible, by omitting the preface, ephemeris, verses, &c., also what is of service, interest tables, value of coin, the several roads and stages; and further to make me appear still more contemptible omitted all the week days in the whole year, and above 50 days in the months, and fixed in some places the wrong Dominical letter: Surely such conduct is to the last degree, base!

"I therefore advertise again, that those almanacks printed in Boston from my copy have the printer's name thereto, and none others: And I hope that the defence of my reputation, in thus advertising, which at this time seems necessary, will be a sufficient apology to my countrymen, whose Good I seek, and on whose Good-will I depend."

"NATHANIEL AMES.

 "The late Dr. Ames having left no calculation for almanacks further than that published for the year 1765, the printers have taken great pains to obtain a well-calculated copy for 1766.—In Dr. Ames's days it was wholly left to the care of the subscriber, one of the printers of his almanack, to have the courts correct—to procure the stages on several roads, and altering them when there has been a removal, &c.—And the publick may now depend that the greatest care has been taken to make this also as correct.—If there are errors in any of the stages it is requested that those who are interested would send a line free of charge to Richard & Samuel Draper, printers, in Boston, and the mistakes shall be corrected."
